TEACHER EDUCATION

Preparing student teachers for future education

Relationship teacher education institute and workplace

Student teachers' professional development

Inquiry / research based learning

Student teachers' agency

The aim of the Cloud Teacher Education is to map various teacher education practices from the perspective of the (student) teacher, by explicitly looking at the role of theory, practice and person. Central topic in this cloud is the relationship between what is taught at the teacher education institute and what at the workplace of the school, in terms of the internship or continuing teachers' professional development.

COORDINATOR

This cloud is a platform open to any practice based research that shows, critically evaluates, or comprehensively endorses real practices of organizational learning.

Organizational learning covers many processes of change in, individual and shared thought and action, which is affected by and embedded in the institutions of an organization. An organization is defined as a decision-driven social order. Each year we focus on a specific theme!
